PERSONAL PROTECTION EQUIPMENT

GOYALS are working to support businesses with Personal Protection Equipment (PPE).

There has been a nationwide shortage of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), creating high demand, and all employers have duties concerning the provision and use of personal protective equipment at work.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) is the equipment that will protect the user against health or safety risks.

PPE include items such as :

Safety helmets, Gloves, Eye protection, High-visibility clothing, Safety footwear, Face Masks (washable & disposable), Protective Gowns.

For each item, certification is provided to ensure the rigorous testing items have undergone by the manufacturers.

DOES YOUR BUSINESS NEED PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT?

Every business by law must maintain a safe working environment. The key to complying with this is to carry out a health and safety risk assessment. This involves spotting workplace hazards and taking steps to reduce the risk of harm they may cause.

Certain businesses will need to use personal protective equipment (PPE) to minimise workplace risks. Workers must use PPE and clothing if their health and safety can't otherwise be properly protected.

Employers must provide any necessary PPE to employees free of charge. If you are self-employed, you must obtain PPE for yourself.

PERSONAL PROTECTION EQUIPMENT

DO I NEED PPE?

PPE should be seen as a last resort.

Decide whether processes can be carried out differently to minimise risk instead.

Carry out a health and safety risk assessment to see what PPE your business needs.

Before purchasing equipment consider carefully what you need and whether separate items are compatible. For example, do protective goggles make it difficult for a respirator to fit properly?

You must also ensure that all PPE meets set standards - see buy the right personal protective equipment. Businesses in certain sectors are obliged to provide protective equipment under regulations that override PPE legislation. See personal protective equipment exemptions.

BUY THE RIGHT PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Under PPE laws you may need to provide:

- protective clothing, eg aprons, gloves, footwear, helmets, high-visibility waistcoats and clothing which gives protection against the weather
- protective equipment, eg eye protectors, respirators and safety harnesses

PPE equipment or clothing must be:

- appropriate to the risks and workplace conditions
- suitable for the ergonomics and state of health of the employee
- capable of fitting the wearer correctly, eg helmets with adjustable chin straps
- CE marked to meet the standards set out in the regulations

BUY THE RIGHT PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

The British Standards Institution (BSI) is one organisation that can give a CE mark to show that a product meets the requirements of all relevant European Union directives. It can also give a Kitemark - its own quality mark - to equipment such as respiratory masks.

What should I check?

Check that all equipment is compatible and suitable for all the jobs it's needed for. A supplier should be able to advise you on the suitability of equipment.
